St. Andrew's Celebration

Caledonian Club Hold Successful Concert on Monday Night. Geo. Gordon Gives Interesting Address.

The first annual celebration of St. Andrew's was held by the Caledonian Club of Wetaskiwin on Monday evening when an excellent "Scottish Concert" was given in the Bijou Theatre. The hall was packed to the doors with an appreciative audience.

It is not generally known perhaps even by all the Scotchmen that St. Andrew was not always Scotland's patron saint until about the middle of the eighteenth century. St. Peter occupied the distinguishing position. St. Andrew's first real connection with the northern kingdom dates from the year 740 A.D., on which date a Scottish legation came to Rome. St. Andrew was wrecked on the coast of Scotland at a place called St. Andrews. This mark was on a mission to the Scotch, carried with him precious relics of St. Andrew, which consisted of part of an arm, three fingers, one tooth and a part of a knee. St. Andrew himself, according to tradition, suffered martyrdom at Patras, in Achaia, between the years 62 and 72 A.D., after having spent several years preaching the Gospel in the North Greece and Epirus. The remaining relics of the great saint repose to this day within one of the four columns which support the dome of St. Peter's at Rome.

The chairman of the evening, Wm. A. Gothard, who, after a few preliminary remarks, announced the program, which was as follows:

Reel of Moving Pictures.
Reading, Mrs. L. R. Carruthers.
Song by J. Campbell, "Scotland Yet."
Vocal duet, Mrs. Pocock and H. J. Montgomery, "Hunting Tower."
Song, C. Carwell, "Ye Banks and Braes."
Solo quartette, "Annie Laurie."

SCHOOL NOTES

During the month of November the attendance at the public schools reached another high water mark, with a total attendance of 132, 125 being at the King Edward school and 397 at the Alexandra school. The average attendance was 456.63. The percentage of attendance was only 85.12. This is lower than it should be especially since there has been very little sickness. Children were absent 1256 days and were late 97 times.

The school board has entered teams for a local debate of the province. The primaries will be held on the evening of December 12th, one of the first of the season. Further announcement will be made through the schools and press next week. The subject of the debate is "Resolved, that Canada should exclude Oriental immigrants." The judges at this end will likely be Dr. Northey, W. H. Odell and Rev. C. E. A. Pocock.

HORSES, CATTLE AND IMPLEMENTS

A farmer should have two important objects in view, namely—

1. To produce wealth from his land sufficient to compensate himself and family for their labor and give a reasonable interest on the value of his investment.
2. To till the land and manage his operations so that the fertility of the soil will not become exhausted.

Haphazard methods and careless work will not accomplish these results but systematic management, modern plant and a scientific knowledge of soil and animal requirements will surely bring him to a high degree of success. A profession man is important not less difficult to master than many of the so-called learned professions, and the man who believes that farming is a fool-proof occupation will usually make an object failure of his business.

Two features must be observed namely stock raising and crop raising. It has been fully demonstrated that under better farming methods it is not difficult to produce from the soil, as we know what the production is greater than the consumption the price is correspondingly low; therefore, it is very necessary that the farmer should know the market for the products of his soil. This he can do by cherishing the stockraising feature of farming. If he will market his crops and consume the products of the stock he will receive double and possibly treble the market price for them as the feeds are made up in balance rations.

The two features, namely, tilling the soil and stock raising, are interdependent; they lean on each other and neither one can stand alone without the other. The crop consumes plant food from the soil, but the supply is no more inexhaustible than the farmer's bank account. The soil fertility must be replenished from time to time, and it will be stimulated to activity, either wise the soil becomes sick and unproductive. Live and let live is the motto of the major portion of the product of the soil in order that many of the organic substances essential to be made in organic life may be cast into the soil in the form of manure. Available, may be returned to the soil in the form of manure. Eighty percent of the fertility removed by the crop is restored to the land, if the manure is properly preserved and applied.—W. B. Taylor in Dry Farming.

Last winter my little girl had a very bad cold, and I was almost at my wits' end, when by chance I read of Dr. Wood's Roney Pine Syrup, and decided to try it. ## LITTLE STOMACH

Little Stomach wakes up bright, Feeling good—sleep well all night. Master sends his breakfast down— Bacon, eggs and coffee brown. Little Stomach goes to work. To dig it stoutly to a shirk. Breakfast scarcely finished when Hearty lunch for two brave men. Little Stomach onward toils Through the freights and broils. Then, as if to get his goat, Comes a dinner table d'hoie. Everything from soup to nuts. Master is the king of nuts. Dinner pleases two hours long. "Twixt the courses wine and song. Not the sparkling champagne drink. But a nice red wine to drink. Little Stomach knuckles down To his task without a frown. Works like fury there below. While good master sees a show. Table d'hoie is stored away. Little Stomach's earned his pay. "Now I'll rest till noon," says he. But, alas, that's not to be! Just as he's about to sleep Comes a highball broad and deep. Crying: "Cheer up, little Tom! Here's a drink for you to keep! Then the Brothers Gink stand pat. Tom and Gordon are their names. Most illustrious are their frames. Little Stomach is in the street. Little Stomach is quite vexed. Holy smoke! Hang hams high! Shish—a quart of extra dry. Little Stomach isn't so perry. Hard, judgment, sorely grieved. Joke's a joke when it's at par. But this joke has gone too far. Little Stomach thus doth quote: "I'll get even with this gink For this too morning drink!"

(The Morning After.)

"Oh, my poor, dear, aching head! Would to goodness I were dead! Oh, so very sick am I. Joy 'twould give me just to die!" Little Stomach laughs with glee: "Serves him right! Ho-ho! Tee-hee!"

CAUTION TO MAKE ALBERTA PROHIBITION PROVINCE STARTED

What, to all intents and purposes is the first gun to be fired in the fight to make Alberta a prohibition province, was trained and let off at the central Methodist church by Rev. Sanford E. Marshall last night. It is not a hope of the future but a declaration which the prohibition people of the province are making to move every effort to bring into existence as soon as it is humanly possible.

A large and representative committee of the Calgary Ministerial association, acting in conjunction with a similar committee at Edmonton, is forming a policy to present to the united churches and temperance forces of the province at a provincial convention to be called soon, and which will possibly be held in Calgary.

When a platform is expected to be drawn up, looking towards the use of that direct legislation which is immediately available for the people of this province whereby they can demand a plebiscite, which if carried by a majority necessarily becomes law, Mr. Marshall said he conceived Sunday night—Albertan.

KEEPING THE BOY ON THE FARM

A professor of an American agricultural college is reported to have said in talking of the problem of keeping the boy or girl interested in what is being done on the farm: "Young people should share in the business of the farm, though it be with only a small share."

It was a summer holiday and the baby being warm and fruitful, cried: "Tut! Tut! We can't disturb our neighbors this way."

The fond father said, taking the child in his arms, let me sing him to sleep.

"He sang and straightway came a knock at the door and these words: 'There's a sick boy next door, and if it's all the same to you, would you mind letting the baby cry instead of singing to it!'"

A NEW INDUSTRY FOR SEDGE-HIGH COST OF LIVING BORDEN'S MISSION TO WASHINGTON

Washington, Nov. 29.—One of the subjects discussed by Premier Borden with the administration officials was the high cost of living in the United States and Canada. He asserted that he talked about "no public questions with the president, but it is known that he manifested much interest in his conversations with members of the cabinet in the steps proposed to be taken by the United States government to reduce the cost of living. He declined to discuss for publication however, any ideas he has for the cooperation of the two countries in reducing prices or to comment on the possibility of a renewal of the negotiations to bring about a reciprocal arrangement between the United States and Canada.

"We expect to operate a large cat ranch near Sedgewick, Alberta, where the best farming land in the province can be bought, at least the surface rights, which will be all we will need, as the oil barons would ask for the mineral rights."

"Now to start with we will collect say 100,000 cats, each cat will average 12 kittens a year, which would mean 1,200,000 cats. The cats will sell from 10 to 15 cents for the white ones and 75 cents for the jet black ones, making an average price of 50 cents a piece, thus making our revenue about $10,000 a day gross. A man can skin 70 cats a day and he will charge 12.50 for his labor. It will take 100 men to operate the ranch, therefore our profit will be about $5,000.00 per day."

"We will feed the cats on rats and will start a rat ranch adjoining the cat ranch. The rats will multiply four times as fast as the cats, so if we start with say 1,000,000 rats we will have four rats a day for each cat, which is plenty. We will feed the cats on rats and in turn will feed the rats on stripped carcasses of the cats, thus giving each rat one-fourth of a cat."

"It will be seen by these figures that the business will be self acting and automatic."

"The cats will eat the rats and the rats will eat the cats and we will get the skins."

"Hoping we may hear from some of those anxious to invest, we are, 'Yours, very truly,'

'General Founding Co.,'

"P.S.—We are negotiating for a red faced sandy colored Tomatoes and a Maltese Tabby for the ranch." Sedgewick Sentinel.

DIG I

How pleasant 'tis to meet the gent who does not talk of things he's doing whose thought is directed forever bent on schemes that he may be pursued. I always dodge my neighbor Jinks, who, with the telling power of a Senator, talks of himself all day, and thinks that of the world he is the centre. What Jinks has done, what Jinks will do, is all of which the man will babble, and if he'll talk the long day through, until his lungs are in a lather. And so he makes the people tired, and when he dies they'll murmur gaily: "It is a thing we've long desired, a thing that we have prayed for daily."

How pleasant 'tis to meet the gent who does not talk of things he's doing whose thought is directed forever bent on schemes that he may be pursued. I always dodge my neighbor Jinks, who, with the telling power of a Senator, talks of himself all day, and thinks that of the world he is the centre. What Jinks has done, what Jinks will do, is all of which the man will babble, and if he'll talk the long day through, until his lungs are in a lather. ## Wetaskiwin Weddings

Several Popular Young Couples Joined in Marriage During the week.

WYLD-MORRIS

One of the most popular weddings of the season took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Scott on Wednesday evening at 8.30 when Miss Mary Adina Morris was united in holy wedlock to Mr. James Charles Wyld. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. B. & P. C. H. The bridesmaid was Miss Gretchen Wyld, sister of the groom, and Mr. F. J. B. Morris, brother of the bride, performed the duties of best man. The contracting parties entered the parlor, which was artistically decorated for the occasion, as Miss Mary Scott, accompanied by Mrs. Adina Morris, and Mr. Frank Adams. The bride carried a shower of bouquets of lily of the valley, and was crowned in white silk poplin. Congratulations, the happy party sat down to a dainty luncheon. The event was a quiet affair, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyld left on the 13.12 train for Sledgewick, where they will take up housekeeping. The bride's gown was a tailor suit of navy blue serge, and black tulle-trimmed with marabou and osprey.

The bride was the recipient of a very large number of useful and expensive presents, attesting to the high esteem in which she is held by her very large circle of friends.

We join in wishing the young couple a long, happy and prosperous journey through life.

RORAPH-KRAUSE NUPITAL

Two of Wetaskiwin's popular young people joined hands in marriage on Saturday of last week, when Mr. John Roraph and Miss Angela Krause were united in holy wedlock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. After a honey-moon trip to Rosecroft, the young couple will take up housekeeping in Wetaskiwin. We join in extending congratulations.
